Novelty (N)	Claims	1-5	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-5	YES

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

1 This report makes reference to the following document:

D1: US 3 851 794 A (HEHL K) 3 December 1974
(1974-12-03)

D1, which is considered to be the closest prior art, discloses (see figures and column 1, line 69 to column 3, line 16):

a cap for sealing an opening in a base part 7, said cap having a outer marginal flange 2, 4 that can be introduced into the opening, a shielding section 3 that extends past the marginal flange 2, 4, and hot melt adhesive 6 provided in the region of the shielding section 3 and plastically deformable when heated above a softening temperature; on the marginal flange 2, 4, a detent collar 2 is provided which engages behind when the cap is introduced into the opening of the base part 7; a joint region having less flexural strength relative to the shielding section 3 is provided between the marginal flange 2, 4 and the shielding section 3; and the distance between the contact regions of the detent collar 2 engaging

Box No. V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement behind and underside of the hot melt adhesive 6 facing the marginal flange 2, 4 is smaller than the thickness of the base part 7 in the edge area of the opening (see figures 1 and 2) so that when the cap is introduced into the opening, prestress is generated in the joint region, from which the subject matter of claim 1 differs in that, a groove-like transition section which is filled with hot melt adhesive and which is open in the direction of the outer edge of the shielding section is provided between the shielding section and the joint region.

The subject matter of claim 1 is therefore novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

The problem to be solved by the present invention can therefore be regarded as that of improving the connection between the shielding section and the hot melt adhesive.

The solution to this problem as proposed in claim 1 of the present application involves an inventive step for the following reasons (PCT Article 33(3)):
the binding force of the hot melt adhesive is mechanically strengthened by the shape of the transition section.

Claims 2 to 5 are dependent on claim 1 and therefore also meet the PCT requirements for novelty and inventive step.
